In 1982, with an extensive background in early childhood education, a love for children, and innovative ideas, Lois Mitten Rosenberry founded Children's Discovery Center. She was determined to create an environment that would encourage exploration and nurture development.

Programs:

Children's Discovery Center embraces the Reggio Emilia educational philosophy which views children as strong and capable, and uses an "emergent curriculum" in which each child is an active participant. Social skills such as creative problem-solving, conflict resolution, and collaboration are enhanced as the children and teachers work together to design and direct projects which encourage growth in physical, emotional, creative, and intellectual domains. Children learn to express themselves verbally, graphically, and through writing. The teachers listen to the children to develop projects and communicate with them daily about their interests. The projects are also enhanced by exploring clay, wire, weaving, drawing, painting, writing, and cooking.

AND LOTS OF TIME FOR PLAY!

When looking for preschools we fell in love with FUMP because of the smaller class sizes and the welcoming teachers. I have four kids, and all of them have been through the FUMP program and have loved every minute of it. Their favorite part has always been playing in the basement. Every day they can run, ride bikes, just play and be kids despite the weather! Of course they learn too, and the teachers are wonderful at nurturing and preparing the children for kindergarten. I love that my kids learn cooperation and listening skills and are given the individualized attention they need at this age. As a former kindergarten teacher, I strongly believe a good preschool program is needed in order for children to be more prepared for the structured kindergarten classes we have these days, and FUMP is that preschool.

Alexa Farley

"First United Methodist Preschool has been a wonderful program for my children. Here are all of the things that I love about FUMP:

- 1. The teachers are very caring, kind, and dedicated. They treat the children with respect and genuinely want to get to know and understand each child. As the class sizes are small, they have more of an opportunity to interact with each individual child.*
- 2. Parents drop off their children to the classroom. This allows parents to have regular interaction with the teacher and to see the classroom each day. For my children, this has also made it easier for them to say goodbye and make the transition from home to school a smoother one.*
- 3. FUMP has a basement gym where children have time each day to practice their gross motor skills no matter what the weather. That play time is vital to preschoolers.*
- 4. While emphasizing social skills, FUMP also introduces academic skills in a way that is fun and interesting to the child.*

Each of my children that have attended preschool at First United Methodist has enjoyed it. They have loved their teachers, the basement gym, the classroom toys, the art projects, the letter of the week, show and tell, etc. FUMP has been a wonderful way for them to start school and prepare them for kindergarten!"
